

Important Eyebrow Tattoo Information

Remember- everyone heals differently. All permanent makeup results vary from person to person.

After your procedure, the area will be swollen. This can cause areas to appear uneven, red, itchy, and irritated during healing. The pigment you see is expected to fade anywhere from 10%-50%. You can expect fading 3-30 days from the procedure date.

There WILL be some shedding skin that has color in it as the area heals- it can even look like hair is coming off. DO NOT PICK. Some areas of the brow will fade more than others as the pigment oxidizes and will start to even out over a 2-3 week period.

*Your touch up will not be moved up or made sooner if this happens. The skin needs time to heal.

With different skin types, tones, ethnicities, oily skin, and medical conditions, you may experience more swelling and could have more fading. There is always a possibility that you will have no retention.

If you have had your brows done before, there are NO GUARANTEES to the retention of the pigment. It may fade sooner or take as expected. At some point, some individuals are not candidates for tattooing in the area due to scar tissue.

The way your body heals as an individual is out of the control of the technician. Even when following proper after care, fading, blurring, or poor retention can still happen depending on our skin and lifestyle.

It is recommended to be seen 6-8 weeks after your original procedure for your 1st touch up. This is necessary to fine-tune the treated area. You are responsible for maintaining your appointments.

It is recommended to see Anna every 1-3 years for your touch ups.
There is a fee for all touch ups.

If you choose to go elsewhere for touch ups, Anna will not be responsible for the final result and maintenance of your brows.
